Dear Racers, Organizers and Fans:

As Mayor, and on behalf of Londoners, I am very pleased to wish you good luck in the Amazing Race London. The course may be grueling and the tasks challenging but I am certain the contestants will rise to the occasion. I understand the racing teams will have to successfully combine talent and strategy in order to be crowned the victors.

The real winners will ultimately be the children that are helped by the Children's Health Foundation. Its work will move forward because Londoners like you find truly amazing ways to help. Finding fun ways to fundraise can be a challenge in itself but it would seem the organizers of this event have tapped into pop culture and made something special. Participants will not only be raising money for a great cause, but they will be giving their bodies and brains a real workout.

For those of us who choose to watch rather than run, there will be additional entertainment and a silent auction. Again, the funds will go to the Children's Health Foundation so we can all do our part.

Thank you to the event organizers, the racing duos and those who have chosen to be spectators. You are all great examples of why London is a caring and compassionate community. Thank you also to the sponsors of this event.

I wish you good weather and good racing. May the best team win.

Sincerely,

Honourable Joe Fontana
Mayor
